though the University of Fernis, 161-3 won from Brown this afternoon at 149-13 166-3 Franklin Field by the narrow margin of 8 to 6 the game proved of greater benefit than the score would imply.

It served to show that Pennsylvania's weakness lies in the inclination to fumble at critical stages and twice it was 166-11 robbed of a splendid effort to score after 161-7 it had carried the ball within a yard of 169-10 Brown's goal line.

The Navy team again demonstrated that it is a wonderful scoring aggregation, and the visitors were utterly unable to stop its dashing backs. The visiting team was composed of men at least as heavy as the midshipmen, but they were not in the same class as football players. The weak point of the North Carolina players was their Navy Yard.

Costly Fumbles.

In the first half Pennsylvania carried the ball down the field to within a foot of Brown's goal line when Lamson, in endeavoring to carry it over for a touchdown, slipped and Brown got the ball on the fumble. Adams kicked out, but the wind carried the ball back and it bounded behind the goal line, where Weikert fell upon it for a safety. Shortly Pennsylvania again got the ball within a yard of Brown's goal and again Lamson fumbled.

In the second half Folwest blocked Adams' kick on Brown's 25-yard line, and, recovering the pigskin, ran the distance for a touchdown. In the last minute of play Pennsylvania forced the ball to Brown's 10-yard line, but on a poor pass by Captain Torrey to Stevenson, Dennie grabbed the leather and ran 100 yards for a touchdown. Play was called after Russ kicked the goal.
